AXACORE™
SMART TECHNOLOGY. RELIABLE SOLUTIONS.

Building the next generation of enterprise fax and document imaging solutions.

Genuine innovation is rare.

More often, a technology company adds a few bells and whistles to a product and calls it new.

Marketing? Sure.

Innovation? We don't think so.

Axacore software engineers develop solutions to real business problems. We maintain that the paperless office is a myth. Paper documents are here to stay. We develop solutions that leverage the power of paper and speed the way you do business.

At Axacore, we're experts on real technology innovation. It's our mission to develop tools that make capturing, delivering, digitizing and archiving paper documents faster, easier and more affordable.

While our competitors are rolling out ad campaigns, we're talking to managers and IT professionals to learn what problems our fax and document imaging technology needs to solve. Then we test and build technology that delivers those solutions.

Results, not hype. It's an unusual way to do business these days, but it's the only way that feels right to us.

Great service has no version number.

But in spite of our advanced, visionary technology, what sets Axacore apart from larger, stratified competitors is our service. We're a lean, agile organization that's free to adapt to the way you work, to come up with new ideas on the fly, and to dedicate extra time making sure you know how to get every cent of value out of our technology.

FAX CORE™

WHEN EVERY FAX IS MISSION CRITICAL

A browser-based fax tracking system like those used by top shipping companies.

Telecom billing reports so you can review fax charges and shop for the best rates.

A new generation of fax software that moves information and powers business.

Organizations depend on fax traffic, from purchase orders to contracts to invoices. Fax works. So when we asked business people what they needed, none of them said, "A global integrated communications solution." They asked for a way to help them manage, mobilize and monetize their paper faxes.

The result is FaxCore, a software/hardware solution designed to track, manage and deliver fax traffic over enterprise networks of any size. Built native for Microsoft's .NET platform, FaxCore lets your organization leverage the full potential of fax including archiving documents, speeding communication and fax-enabling applications.

FaxCore sets the new standard for enterprise fax.

XDOC™

PUTTING PERFORMANCE BACK INTO PAPER

When your documents are scanned and archived, XDOC software lets you access them in many file formats from anywhere using a Web browser.

XDOC is adaptable document imaging, because no two businesses are alike.

Customized solutions to capture documents and mobilize data.

Turning roomfuls of paper documents into digital files sounds great—until you think about what it entails. Handing over your sensitive documents, dropping thousands of scanned files into a database without any idea how to navigate through them…these are the things nightmares are made of.

That's why we created XDOC, a blend of software, personnel and flexible service that takes the anxiety out of document imaging. Rely on XDOC and you'll be relying on Axacore's experienced document analysts, designing a customized network interface that lets your personnel work with scanned documents the same way they work with your paper documents now—same fields, same nomenclature, and a very short learning curve. Worried about maintaining the security of your documents? Fear not. We will send our trained analysts to you with all the technology needed to scan, index and archive your documents onsite. Your original documents never need to leave your building.
